Sharing A Passion For Australian Wine

The Five Minute Wine Rush ©

Only got a few minutes to spare. Well look no further! Here is the place to find out some more about Australian wine and share wine writer, Paul Ippolito's passion for it!

Mount Eyre Vineyards Three Ponds Hunter Valley Chardonnay 2010

This is a live review. What does that mean I hear you say? Well it means the glass is in my hand as I type. No literally but nearby enough to count as me sharing with you this very decent Chardonnay as I drink. Why is this all so special you say? Well the reality is my tasting note are normally weeks, sometimes longer behind their tasting. A modern day reality of wine writing and the perpetual catch up one plays with the balancing act of tasting and posting ensues. Anyway this is good folks, real good. This is real Chardonnay, modern Australian c21 Chardonnay and these guys have got all the elements just right. Divine classic regional nose. Pure pristine peach melon, discernable cashew and real French oak, tantalizing acidity and a synchronicity that rewards through a smooth lightly creamy harmonious palate. Beautiful drinking with much more to come. Everyone take a bow. Yes I like this especially at this price. Try it with bucatelli carbonara.

Drink to 2018. About $23.13.5%. Hunter Valley. 94/100 – Excellent – 95/100 - Superb.
